

Families for Safe Streets (FSS) is an advocacy group of families whose loved ones have been killed or seriously injured, due to dangerous or reckless driving. FSS is a national group, and a chapter is forming to activate families in the San Francisco Bay Area.

Our goal is to end preventable traffic violence in our communities and make streets safe for everyone.

We are bannng together to turn grief into action so no other family has to face the same devastation that we have. We plan to make Vision Zero a reality to end traffic deaths and build a cultural movement around the value of protecting and saving lives by putting street safety first.

In the aftermath of a traumatic experience, it can be daunting to search for resources on your own. The San Francisco Bay Area Families for Safe Streets have put together a collection of supportive resources to help you through the process.
